Language Supervision

——Ensuring Language Quality Standards for Output Works

Language supervision services refer to the transition from the traditional post-evaluation quality model of translation projects to a process management and quality tracking model based on pre-established quality standards for translation projects. This approach involves ensuring quality control from the beginning, tracking progress in real-time during the process, and conducting comprehensive acceptance afterwards. The goal is to achieve a win-win situation for both quality and progress in translation projects.

The process of language supervision service

Requirement Communication Project Review and Analysis

Conducting specific requirement communication for supervisory projects, including language, style of work, application type, etc., and summarizing project analysis reports.

Establishing a Project Control Center Developing a Supervision Plan

Gathering translated texts, videos, audio files, and other relevant materials for the audit project, and formulating an implementation plan and operational procedures for the project.

Establishing a Language Supervision Expert Team&Technical Review Team

The resource manager matches reviewers based on the type, theme, language, and specific requirements of the supervision project, forming language supervision expert teams for each language accordingly.

Establishing unified supervision standards and regulatory requirements

The expert team formulates clear standards and specifications for evaluating the skill qualities of translators, translation conventions and terminology standards, language quality standards for translated texts, printing or production application standards, etc. These standards and specifications are tailored to control language translation quality as well as target country's people's beliefs, cultural differences, and political and cultural communication aspects. For example, "Requirements for Translation Quality Standards" and "Language Quality Assessment Rules".

Convening project supervision meetings

The members of the project supervision team convene a meeting to announce the supervision norms and standards, and execute them uniformly according to the specific content.

The expert team conducts initial review

Review for mistranslations, omissions, inconsistencies in terminology, and consistency in translation style. The expert team conducts the first round of review and assessment of the translation content, and provides an evaluation report.

The expert team conducts a re-review

To ensure that the translated content is more closely aligned with the receptivity of the target audience in the recipient country and adheres to the Chinese external propaganda principles, an audit report is issued for the content based on fidelity to the original text. If there are any discrepancies in the text, video, audio, or technical aspects, they are revised accordingly. After completion of the revisions, the content proceeds to the final review stage.

Final review by the expert team The final review focuses on checking the overall project according to the "Requirements for Translation Quality Standards", assessing whether the translation quality meets the accuracy requirements, and issuing a final review report.

Multilingual Conference Solutions

Facilitating International Communication and Cooperation

The language services involved in multilingual conferences mainly include interpreting services. The interpreting team of Wuguojie (Beijing) Translation and Consultation Co.,Ltd undergoes strict selection, with interpreters holding national or international professional qualifications and certifications, as well as possessing extensive practical experience in foreign affairs activities and international conference interpreting, along with profound language skills. Unbounded Translation has long been providing various types of interpreting services for domestic and international large-scale events, covering more than 10 industry sectors including market, finance, trade, education, sports, and government affairs. This helps to build a language bridge to facilitate international communication and cooperation.

Accompanying Interpretation

Accompanying interpreters possess extensive vocabulary and knowledge, fluent spoken language, accurate pronunciation, strong communication skills, adaptability, as well as business etiquette. They have abundant experience in interpreting work in foreign affairs liaison or reception. This type of interpretation is suitable for business visits, sports events, tourism receptions, entertainment activities, factory visits, exhibitions, and other occasions.

Multilingual Conference Solutions

Facilitating International Communication and Cooperation

Consecutive Interpretation

Consecutive interpretation interpreters possess exceptional memory and shorthand skills, as well as excellent language expression abilities. Interpreters start interpreting after the speaker talks for 5-10 minutes, rapidly conveying the complete meaning of the entire paragraph, and delivering the information accurately. The completeness and accuracy of the translation reach over 90%. It is suitable for diplomatic conferences, business negotiations, visits and inspections, small-scale consultations, press conferences, media Q&A sessions, and other occasions.

Simultaneous Interpretation

Simultaneous interpreters undergo rigorous training and possess extensive knowledge, sharp responsiveness, and excellent language organization skills. They also have abundant experience in simultaneous interpretation. Before the meeting, they thoroughly prepare the meeting content. During the meeting, they translate the speech content heard synchronously, without separately occupying meeting time. This method is suitable for large seminars, formal international conferences, or training sessions.

Translation and Dubbing Production Process

Requirement Communication

Film Analysis

Specify languages, standards, styles, distribution requirements, etc.; analyze the content of the film, organize the plot, character relationships, and language habits of the characters.

Copyright Purchase

Source Inspection

Rich experience in copyright transactions, familiar with market trends, and acquire rights at advantageous prices; inspect program materials and make preparations before translation and dubbing.

Project Preparation

Script Translation

Translating the script according to quality standards and specifications, native language experts refine it based on language characteristics; translation review experts quality check to ensure the content is closely aligned with audience acceptability and the requirements of translation and dubbing technology.

Recording and Dubbing

The translation and dubbing director selects actors based on the content of the film and the characteristics of the characters.

Initial Mixing and Listening Review

The Translation and Dubbing Department consolidates technical language QC data; the translation and dubbing team conducts language listening reviews, while the technical team conducts technical listening reviews of the dubbed files.

Final Dubbing and Mixing

The Translation and Dubbing Department reviews and inspects the QC issues identified in the first recording, and the Dubbing Department completes the additional recordings.

Subtitle Production Inspection

The sound editor adjusts the volume of the dubbing and background music; standard subtitle files are output, and the overall quality of the subtitles is checked. Any areas that do not meet the standard are edited again.

Final Inspection

Submit the finished product

Final Video Inspection: The translation team checks the subtitles, while the dubbing team checks the audio. After confirming that the final product meets the requirements, the technical department transcodes and imports it into the broadcasting system, and then submits it.

Distribution and Marketing

Tailored to Local Conditions Integrated with the local overseas background, we devise distribution strategies, coordinate with cinemas, schedule screening periods, arrange press conferences, and organize premieres tailored to the unique characteristics of various media platforms. By adapting marketing strategies to local conditions, leveraging overseas resources, and utilizing activities such as film and television festivals and grassroots promotions, we aim to drive box office sales.
